Regent College

Regent College, which is part of Regent Group, a group which specialises in the Educational Sector, is a highly successful, independent, co-educational secondary school and sixth form college located in Harrow, north-west London. The College provides full time education for students from Year 7 to A-Level.

Regent Learning, another division of Regent Group, also runs from the College site, offering a range of supplementary tuition programmes during evenings, week-ends and holidays.

Easter Revision Courses

Here at Regent College we offer a range of Revision Courses over the Easter Holidays for GCSE, AS and A Level students. Our fully equipped school provides an excellent environment for quality revision sessions.

In each subject, students will consolidate their knowledge of the key areas, allowing them to build on a solid foundation. Students will also raise their own areas of weakness as part of a 'clinic session' meaning that topics of concern are dealt with quickly and efficiently. This all-round approach ensures that every student can look towards the examinations with the confidence that they have covered everything needed for examination success. Past examination papers are used to illustrate key topics and help to familiarise students with the format of the examination paper. Students will be given an extensive study pack containing past examination papers for home study.

In addition to this, we also teach students examination technique. This involves advising on how to approach revision, how to deal with pre-examination stress and nerves, how to choose the most suitable questions in the examination, how to plan answers and other essential topics that are key to giving our students the advantage.

Expert Teachers

The teachers on the Easter Revision Course are all dedicated and experienced professionals. In fact, the large majority of our teachers on the Regent Easter Revision Course are full-time members of staff here at Regent College and have many years of experience in teaching their subjects and in many cases; also have considerable experience as examiners. Given this, they are able to understand the specific demands of the subject and of each examination board and teach accordingly.

Course Structure

Each Revision Course is composed of 5 sessions. These may be either morning or afternoon sessions.

09.00-12.30 Morning Session
13.30-17.00 Afternoon Session

Our small class sizes ensure that every student gets the individual time and attention from the teacher that is needed. This is particularly important at a time so close to the examinations when students may have particular topics in which they are struggling. Our classes provide an opportunity to deal with these concerns on a student by student basis in a manner which a student might not normally be able to do in a typical school environment.

Assessment

At the end of every Revision Course, each student will sit a mock examination. This will be marked and returned to the student before they complete their Course. This examination will provide valuable information to the student, illustrating where they need to focus their attention in the last few weeks before the public examinations commence and is extremely helpful in rehearsing students for the strict conditions of the public examination hall as well as allowing us to analyse the progress of each student.
