An Introduction to Regent Independent College

Regent Independent College, founded in 2000, is a sixth-form tutorial college, part of the private education provider Regent Group. Based in the heart of London, RIC offers full-time education to students aged 16 upwards through a variety of A Levels, with the ethos of "The End Result of Education is Character" being at the forefront of what we do.

Regent Independent College consists of two departments: Lower Sixth, for year 12 and AS Level Students, and Upper Sixth, suitable for year 13 and A2 Level students.

Location

Regent Independent College is located in the heart of London, in Great Titchfield Street. The facility has excellent transport links and is close to a variety of restaurants and shops. It boasts well equipped classrooms, a student lounge, computer suites, free Wi-Fi and private study areas.

Specialist teachers

Our dedicated team of educators have an average of 15 or more years of teaching experience and are skilled experts in their respective fields. They prioritise an interactive, student-centered approach to teaching and advocate for the development of debate and critical thinking skills, rather than just the memorisation of material.

Within the classroom, students are encouraged to engage in meaningful conversations while mastering the techniques and skills necessary to communicate and solve problems at an advanced level that will help your children both inside and outside of the classroom.

Small class sizes and an individualised approach

Unlike many other colleges that have up to 30 students per class, Regent Independent College have at most 9 pupils per class, meaning your child has the opportunity to access direct support, 1-to-1 help, and the individual attention that they deserve to help them succeed.

This personalised approach continues throughout RIC studies with the same tutor advising on university choice, UCAS support, and written statement.

Specialist subject offerings:

With specialist focus subjects including Maths, Science, Economics, Business Studies and Psychology at Lower Sixth and Upper Sixth levels, your child is sure to find a subject that interests them. Whether other colleges couldn't offer the desired subject, your child struggles in large class sizes or didn't quite achieve the grades that they needed, RIC is here to help.

Personal development

At Regent Independent College, personal development is a fundamental part of all of their courses, with a personal development and achievement program being offered to all of its students. The program helps students with...

Students are required to attend weekly sessions, assemblies, and other activities from September to Easter in each academic year.
